3. Discussion/Potential Action Items:

A. Consider Recommended Resolution of a Property Line Dispute:

Village Manager Jim Dyer discussed a longstanding dispute regarding the ownership and use of Park Street. He explained that the history of the issue dates back before his time as village manager but has been a significant focus since he arrived. The dispute arises from the lack of direct dedication of the right of way to the village in the original plat that created Park Street. The proposal aims to resolve the issue by quitclaiming the Eastern four feet of the property to Three Rivers Properties LLC lot (A) and Karl Wizinsky lot (B), while leasing the remaining area. Additionally, there is a provision for the village to use and maintain certain elements of the property under a lease agreement. The proposal is for a 5-year lease term, renewable for additional terms, with conditions for expiration tied to the operation of the Mitten Brewery or the condition of the holiday tree on the property. Dyer clarified that the village's acquisition is through an easement rather than a right of way, as specified in relevant legal precedent. He noted that while the village has used 20 feet of the property, the actual width of Park Street varies between 13 to 16 feet beyond that point.

Trustee Gale Moved, Supported by Trustee Cavendish to adopt the resolution 3-2024 resolving the property line dispute as outlined.

Discussion:

Trustee Harper voiced apprehensions regarding the proposed agreement, particularly focusing on the lease terms, legal implications, and potential extortion. He raised concerns about the village potentially relinquishing property rights in exchange for a lease with a short termination clause, deeming it unfavorable. Harper questioned the legitimacy of Karl's claims and stressed the significance of trust in negotiations. He acknowledged the difficulty of the decision for the Council and announced his abstention from voting due to his adjacent property's connection to the matter under discussion.

Trustee Conley explains the contents of the resolution, highlighting the quitclaim deed's significance in preserving the existing location of buildings on Park Street and enabling the utilization of the property effectively. Conley underscores the importance of ensuring that any construction is permitted only up to the current buildings' alignment, thereby maintaining the integrity of the area.

Trustee Ager questioned the fate of the agreement if Karl were to sell the property and she asked for clarification on whether the agreement would remain valid in the event of a change in ownership and whether Karl intends to withdraw the property from the market if the agreement is approved.

Jim Dyer, the Village Manager, emphasized that the agreement should not be contingent upon Karl retaining ownership of the property, but underscores the importance of recognizing Karl's commitment to the community. Despite potential disagreements, Dyer highlighted Karl's love for the community and his dedication to preserving its essence, particularly at the corner in question. Dyer expressed his willingness to take a leap of faith, while acknowledging the risks involved, but asserts his belief in the sincerity of Karl's intentions.

Dyer highlighted his numerous conversations with Karl, underscoring their mutual appreciation for the community's importance. He aimed to convey a sense of trust and goodwill, indicating a belief in the shared interests of all involved parties.

Trustee Cavendish echoes Dyer's sentiment, emphasizing the importance of trust and faith in Karl's commitment to uphold his promises. She emphasizes the reciprocal nature of trust, noting that it requires both parties to fulfill their obligations. Cavendish expresses confidence that as long as the village honors its commitments, Karl will likewise fulfill his obligations.
